

The Aims and Objectives of the Laboratory Technicians' Association of Victoria.

The Laboratory Technicians' Association of Victoria, formerly known as the Laboratory Technicians' Branch of the Science Teacher Association of Victoria, is a professional association and has the following aims;

- To promote the work of Laboratory Technicians in the Science Departments of educational institutions in Victoria as a profession.
- To establish policies relating to best practice in the carrying out of this profession.
- To facilitate the exchange of ideas among the members of this profession.
- By working with other organizations with an interest in Science Education, promote best practice in science education.
- To facilitate the professional development of our members.
- To promote contact with members of our profession outside Victoria
- To provide resources and aids to members of the profession in carrying out their work.